

A stylized illustration of a satellite with two large solar panel arrays extending from its central body. The satellite is white with blue and grey details. The background is a solid blue color. Overlaid on the right side of the satellite is the text "Subtract H" in a large, white, sans-serif font with a black outline. The "H" is partially cut off on the right edge of the image.

END